

5 Bag Makeovers with Fabric Paint

Back-to-school season is in full swing! Whether you're looking to save on supply spend where you can, or you just want a bag that no one else is toting around this school year, Tulip Fabric Paint is a fab way to revamp last year's tired old backpack or give a simple one fun personality in your own awesome style.

Instructions:

If you haven't embraced the pineapple trend yet, then you haven't really been living. Who doesn't love pineapples?! Created with Tulip Dimensional Fabric Paints in ultra bright colors, this bag has a fun pop art feel with everyone's favorite fruit as the star of the show.

For all of the forever mermaids out there, this ocean-themed backpack is so easy to make with Dimensional Paint in pretty metallic colors. Create mermaid tail vibes with simple curves in a repetitive pattern.

Maybe you don't need to haul around a big backpack, or maybe you're looking for a flashy way to store your makeup or other school essentials. You can never go wrong with a set of bright red lips accented with shimmering red glitter. Get the look with Dimensional Paint in Neon Red Slick and Apple Red Jewel Glitter.

Cactus designs are still a thing, so get out your Soft Fabric Paint and give your bag a cactus motif that reminds you of summer fun all year round.

Getting a little wild is never a bad idea (not usually anyway), especially when it comes to your makeup bag or clutch. Create zigzag motifs in electric dimensional colors for a custom bag that's super easy to make but looks like you snatched it up from a store.

Designed By:
Chloe Tatro